SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Swings was steady for the majority of the shift. We started with about nine calls pending. Swings did a great job with handling the call volume and were able bring down the calls to zero within about two hours. Today we handled a minor injury accident where a bicyclist was struck. This bicyclist was struck from behind as he was riding with the flow of traffic. All involved parties stopped and fortunately the bicyclist only sustained minor to moderate injuries. Later on during our shift, we received a call from an alarm company advising of an alarm activation at one of the vacant industrial buildings located in the 600 block of D St. We searched the building using a total of five officers and it took a long time to safely clear the building. Luckily this call came in around the time Graves was coming and they assisted us with watching over the city while we searched. We ended up not locating any suspect(s) inside but we did locate evidence indicating there was possibly someone in the building prior to our arrival.

SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

We had another busy Night shift taking 9 report calls for the shift. The rainy weather didn't keep people inside but it did contribute to two traffic accidents. The calls steadily came in up until approximately 0400 hours. This gave officers a break so they could get their reports completed. Nothing exciting or particularly interesting to report.
