Today was the first day of the week for dayshift. Officers caught up on last week's reports. Calls for service were manageable throughout the day. ### SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Swingshift was busy from the start of the shift, mostly due to Dayshift being busy with a possible explosive device being found. Swingshift worked quickly and efficiently to handle any calls that were holding. During the shift they responded to a violation of a court order in which the restrained person (the son) was at the protected person's home (the father) and had started a verbal altercation. When the officers arrived, he barricaded himself inside the room and was refusing all commands to exit. This was a volatile situation, but officers worked together and were able to arrest the suspect without anyone being injured.

SHIFT: GRAVEYARD SHIFT
